The name, the mark, the meaning.

FELÖRA (fel-OR-ah) — from the Latin ferre (to carry) and flora (to bloom). The macron over the Ö is intentional. A small mark of distinction that signals immediately: this is not ordinary. This is considered. This is premium.

The wordmark is set in a classical serif at tracking .5em — wide-spaced, unhurried, confident. Paired with a geometric sans-serif for all body copy: clean, modern, quiet authority.

SERIF — HEADLINES
300 light · 400 regular · 400 italic

For she who carries life.

SANS-SERIF — BODY & UI
300 light · 400 regular · 500 medium

The aching back at 2am.
The heaviness that pulls at your hips.
The exhaustion that no one fully understands.
You deserve to feel held — completely,
beautifully, unconditionally.

Six tones. One feeling.

Every color was chosen to evoke warmth, softness, and quiet luxury. Nothing loud. Nothing clinical. The palette should feel like the inside of a beautiful boutique — or the first few moments of rest after weeks of discomfort.

------------------	------------------	------------------	------------------	-----------------	-----------------

*"Warm enough to feel like home.
Restrained enough to feel like luxury."*

Two typefaces.

Perfect balance.

— OUR MISSION —

To be the brand every woman reaches for the moment she finds out she is carrying life.

We exist because pregnancy is one of the most profound experiences a human being can have — and for too long, it has been treated as something to manage rather than something to honour. FELÔRA was built to change that.

We walk every step of this journey with her — from the first heartbeat to the last push, and every quiet moment beyond.

FELÔRA · FOR SHE WHO CARRIES LIFE

She is not a demographic.

She is a feeling.

FELÖRA exists for one woman — and she wears many faces. She is the first-time mama terrified and overjoyed. The career woman who won't slow down. The exhausted second-timer who knows what she needs. She is between 20 and 40. She shops on her phone at midnight. And she deserves better than the clinical products currently offered to her.

Who she is

Pregnant women & new mothers, ages 20–40, primarily USA. She values quality, emotion, and brand story. She buys products that make her feel seen and celebrated — not just treated.

ii

What she feels

Back pain. Pelvic pressure. Exhaustion. Swelling. A body she no longer recognises. She is doing something extraordinary and she feels completely alone in it.

iii

What she wants

To feel held. To feel beautiful. To find products that speak to the sacredness of what her body is doing — not products that treat her like a medical condition to be managed.

The numbers are extraordinary.

The global maternity care market is enormous — and dramatically underserved by premium brands. FELÖRA enters at the exact moment that millennial and Gen Z mothers are demanding better. 85% of pregnant women experience chronic back and pelvic pain. Most products treating them feel clinical, cheap, and completely disconnected from the beauty of what is happening.

—IN CLOSING—

She carries everything.
FELÖRA carries
this.

FELÖRA is not just a product brand. It is a movement. A declaration that the women who bring new life into the world deserve to be treated with the same luxury, intention, and beauty that they give to the world. We are building the brand that every pregnant woman will reach for — and trust completely.
